STRIKERS DEFY COURT ORDERS AT PITTSBURGH

Power Dwindles To 35 Per Cent Of Normal; Mills, Factories Close

UNION LEADER JAILED

Other Strikers May Face Court Unless Men Return To Work

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 25—Electric power in the heavily industrialized Pittsburgh area dwindled to 35 per cent of normal today as employees of the Duquesne Light Company continued on strike in defiance of a court order which sent their leader to jail for a year and brought threat of action against other union officials.

Only four of the company's 3500 workers reported for the day shift—two power station workers and two distribution employees. Supervisors manned the generators and lines to keep some power flowing to the 817-square mile area served by the utility.

A three-judge court yesterday upheld the restraining order obtained by the city in an effort to halt the walkout, following a hearing which culminated in the sentencing of President George L. Mueller of the Duquesne Light employees independent union to jail for contempt.

The judges also ordered nine members of the union's strike committee to appear today or face arrest.

The executive board of the union was called in emergency session this morning reportedly to decide whether to call off the strike.

At 9:30 a. m., the time set for the court hearing, union attorney Herman Lipsitz conferred briefly with judge Harry H. Rowand. Shortly afterward, the judge announced the hearing had been postponed until 11 a. m.

The strike started yesterday simultaneously with the opening of the court hearing on continuance of the restraining order.

The strike drastically curtailed the production of steel and coal, forced many stores to close and cut streetcar transportation 25 per cent of normal during rush hours. Many theaters were closed and the streets were browned out to conserve power. Twelve steel mills, 10 coal mines and many factories were closed, idling 20,000 workers.

Mayor David L. Lawrence appealed to the 1,500,000 residents in the area served by the Duquesne Light Company to reduce power consumption to the minimum to insure an adequate supply for hospitals and essential services. Emergency generators were set up outside municipal buildings.

BUTCHER HUNTS TO FIND MEAT FOR HIMSELF

BRIDGEPORT, O., Sept. 25—Butcher Oscar Kull closed his meat market today and walked past a line of waiting customers, gun in hand.

"What's that for, Oscar?" one worried shopper inquired.

"I'm going to get some meat," came the answer.

"I'm going squirrel hunting."

Ronald Valentine, 2, Drowns In Creek

Ronald Eugene Valentine, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Valentine, drowned in four feet of water, at 3 p. m. Tuesday near his home on Route 4, Circleville, in Saltcreek township, 9 miles southeast of Circleville.

The tragedy occurred while Ronald and his three brothers, Gary Lee, 5, and Kenneth and Dennis, 3-year-old twins, were playing on and near a small bridge on an unused section of road near the Valentine home. Monday's heavy rain had filled a hole with four feet of water into which Ronald tumbled from the end of the bridge.

Witnessing the plunge the three brothers ran up a hill, screaming to their home. Their mother, Mrs. Dorothy Poling Valentine, ran to the scene and took the child's lifeless body from the water. Dr. E. M. Hemmeger, Adelphi, was summoned, but efforts to revive the boy were futile.

Dr. Lloyd Jonnes, Pickaway county coroner, returned a verdict of accidental drowning.

At the time of the tragedy, the lad's father was at work in the plant of the Anchor-Hocking Glass company at Lancaster.

Besides his parents and three brothers, Ronald is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Poling, living directly across the road from the Valentine home; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Valentine, Lancaster; and great-grandmother, Mrs. George Poling, North Court street.

The body will be removed Thursday afternoon from the Deffenbaugh funeral home to the Poling home where friends may call.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Presbyterian church at Tarleton.

The Rev. Mr. Larrison will officiate. Burial will be in the Maple Hill cemetery at Stoutsville under direction of the Deffenbaugh funeral home.

52-20 CLUB IS TOO LARGE VA OFFICIALS SAY

1,655,000 Ex-GIs Reported Drawing Readjustment Allowance Money

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—More than 10,000,000 veterans now have jobs, but others are exhausting their "rocking chair" money so fast that up to 600,000 may be without further unemployment benefits by January.

Reporting this today, the veterans administration warned that a majority of ex-GIs who run through their readjustment allowances will be ineligible then for state unemployment compensation also.

Officials expressed concern both at a growing tendency to remain in the so-called 52-20 club ($20 a week jobless benefits for 52 weeks) and at a recent upswing in repeaters—men who find jobs, then lose or quit them.

The agency implied that some of the every-week recipients are not genuinely seeking work. Henceforth, their job-hunting efforts will be watched more closely.

Officials called for stronger public placement machinery—particularly through encouragement for employers to list their better jobs—and for more adequate counseling facilities.

So far 5,607,000 veterans have drawn one or more $20 federal checks under a GI bill of rights provision insuring them against (Continued on Page Two)

WALLACE WILL AID DEMOCRATS

Ousted Secretary Believed To Have Eye On 1948 And 1952 Elections

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—Henry A. Wallace has decided finally today to campaign for the Democratic party with an eye on the 1948 and 1952 presidential elections.

His associates revealed that Wallace is ready and willing to speak for Democratic congressional candidates in the current campaign despite his discharge from the cabinet.

The United Press was informed Wallace would accept state or national committee invitations to speak, or invitations from other responsible Democratic leaders. It appeared likely he would avoid further discussion of foreign policy until the end of the Paris peace conference.

In accepting speaking engagements, Wallace would have to be convinced in his own mind that the Democratic candidate had what he regards as a sound voting record, although the measure by which this would be determined was not indicated. His associates said there already had been inquiries from Missouri, Pennsylvania, Indiana and the northwest Pacific states for Wallace speeches.

THIEVES ADD INSULT TO INJURY IN COOP RAID

Thieves added insult to injury at the home of Mrs. Sarah Rambo, Clinton street. Stealing 5 chickens from a coop they removed the heads from the fowls in the Rambo backyard, according to a police report Wednesday.

Two other chicken thefts in the same neighborhood were reported to police. William Arledge said a rooster and a hen were stolen from his coop, and Ernest Weaver complained of the theft of one chicken from his henhouse.

POWER'S OFF; SHE DOESN'T CARE

PITTSBURGH'S long-threatened power strike is underway with hundreds of production and maintenance workers off the job, but Dolores Cobbett, a downtown secretary, doesn't give the shift of her typewriter carriage whether the Duquesne Light company blacks out or not, for she totes her own lamp—a beacon shines from her headgear powered by the battery case, near her arm. Though Dolores has a solution, the rest of the Smoky City's nearly 700,000 residents are literally groping in the dark. Trolleys are idle, cold storage supplies are rotting and 1,000 policemen are endeavoring to control traffic without benefit of intersection lights. (International)

Draft Board Members Honored For Service

Pickaway County Selective Service board members were honored at a dinner at Hanley's by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening.

This board was formed in October 1940 and present Common Pleas Judge Emmett Crist was the first chairman. Also serving were Durwood Dowden, Earl Smith, Dr. J. L. Spindler, Robert Armstrong, and Jay Clark.

In 1942 Mr. Crist went into the service and Mr. Dowden took over as chairman and has served in the capacity since. Mr. Dowden gave the figures of how many were inducted and he stated that as of September 10, 1946 there were still 688 men in the service from Pickaway county.

Dr. H. D. Jackson, highest ranking officer from Pickaway county to serve in World War II, presented certificates of appreciation to the members of the board for their outstanding service for which they received no compensation.

Dana Furman, Chillicothe, gave a very inspiring talk to the group on "Why To Love America." Mr. Furman was a member of the Poland Reserves when Germany attacked Poland early in the war.

TRUCE BRINGS TEMPORARY END TO FIGHTING

TEHRAN, Sept. 25—A truce was reported today in the revolt of Ghasghai tribesmen in Fars province pending negotiations with a five-man government mission which left by plane for Shiraz, the provincial capital.

Shiraz has been under strong attack by the tribesmen but it was learned they agreed to stop fighting while an attempt is made to settle their differences by negotiation.

The five-man commission left here today. It included the chief of police of Tehran and Premier Ahmed Ghasvami's personal assistant.

The truce was arranged in conversations here with Mohammed Nasser, leader of the Ghasghai tribe.

Suspension of the fighting came after the tribesmen broke into Shiraz' outskirts. The government after several denials admitted today that the rebels now control Bushire, important Persian gulf port.

KAISER DEFENDS PROFIT MOTIVE AS WAR WINNER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser said today that a profit motive is necessary to win wars, but that if congress could devise a system whereby no one would profit during wartime he would go along.

Kaiser told the house merchant marine committee that he wouldn't advocate a plan for eliminating profits because he didn't know of any country that ever won a war except on the incentive system, "and even Russia found that out."

Kaiser, in his third day's appearance on the stand in the committee's investigation of wartime shipbuilding profits, said he resented efforts to compare profits with the amount of capital investment made by the shipbuilding companies.

"If a shipbuilder can deliver the stuff and save you money, I don't think it makes any difference what his capital investment is," he told Rep. Alvin F. Weichel, R. O. Weichel had been questioning Kaiser about his participation in the formation of the Walsh-Kaiser Company at Providence, R. I.

"I want you to recognize," Kaiser said, "that we built the ships. We built them cheaper and faster than others and saved the government $250,000,000."

Weichel, obviously referring to the maritime commission's estimate that the Kaiser interests made a gross profit of $192,000,000 from their shipbuilding with a capital investment of only a few million dollars, argued that profits must be compared to the amount of capital a company was willing to risk.

YUGOSLAVS PUT MUZZLE ON USIS IN BELGRADE

United States Asked To Close Reading Room In Capital, Stop News Service

BELGRADE, Sept. 25—Yugoslavia has asked the United States to close the American reading room in Belgrade and terminate all activities of the U. S. information service on grounds that Yugoslav authorities are openly incited to "high treason" by its distribution of "anti-Yugoslav propaganda," it was announced today.

Officials said the request was made Sunday night in a note delivered to the U. S. embassy by the Yugoslav foreign office. Yugoslav authorities said the decision reached by the ministry of foreign affairs was "final" and that the USIS "must cease operating."

American embassy officials said they had not been notified that the request was final. They said there had been no reply to an American note sent Monday which asked the Yugoslavs to reconsider the decision. The reading room was expected to remain open as usual today, pending formal notification that the Yugoslav decision is final and will not be reconsidered.

Yugoslav officials said, however, that permission to operate the reading room had been withdrawn and that there was no prospect of present discussions affecting the decision.

The Yugoslav note charged that USIS had distributed hostile articles written by Eric L. Priddon-off, a former embassy commercial attaché, Richard Brees, director of the USIS office and the press attaché of the U. S. embassy was held responsible by the Yugoslavs for distributing the Priddon-off articles and "other hostile articles." Some of the Priddon-off pieces reportedly appeared in the Los Angeles Examiner.

Brees, who will leave by plane for the United States tomorrow, said the Priddon-off articles were not distributed by USIS. He explained that the articles were reproduced on a mimeograph borrowed by USIS by an unidentified American employed by the U. S. (Continued on Page Two)

COW AND AUTO INVOLVED IN ROUTE 23 CRASH

Somebody was looking forward to many beef dinners—all as the result of an accident on Route 23 near South Bloomfield Tuesday evening.

State Patrolman L. G. Ridenour reported that an auto driven by John Brunschweiler, West Virginia, struck a cow which had wandered on to the road. The cow belonged to a Columbus man and had been pastured at the Ruff farm.

The front of the auto was damaged and the cow so badly hurt it was butchered. The patrolman said the meat was "disposed of legally."

Scientists Puzzled By Absence Of Russians

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 25—Upwards of 100 of the world's most famous scientists opened the final day of a three-day conference on nuclear physics today with one non-scientific problem puzzling them. It was: what happened to the four delegates from Soviet Russia?

This meeting, held in connection with Princeton university's bicentennial program, was in reality the first international congress, or forum, on nuclear science—the sequel to atomic energy.

The best physicists—many of them Nobel prize winners—in the United States, England, France, India, Switzerland, Denmark, Italy, Holland, Mexico and Ireland were represented.

Russia, too, was invited and Moscow sent word weeks ago that four of its scientists—three astronomers and a physicist—would attend the conference.

These four men were: V. Linnik, of the optical institute, Leningrad; A. A. Mikhailov, astronomy institute, Moscow; C. Shain, Pulkovo observatory, Simels, Crimea; and (Continued on Page Two)

OSU FRESHMEN ARE MIXED UP

Early Arrival Of 100 Girls Complicates Confused Housing Picture

COLUMBUS, Sept. 25—Lawsuits and lodging today added to the normal confusion of a college freshman for more than 100 Ohio State University co-eds.

The girls arrived from various points in the state today in time for freshman week activities, as instructed by the university, but they had no place to sleep tonight.

While university officials waited for Franklin county common pleas court to decide whether the co-eds or male veterans were entitled to use Baker Hall, the girls and their parents milled around the dean of women's office in Pomerene Hall.

"See what those veterans did," one employee of the dean of women's office snapped. "One hundred girls and not a single room to put them in."

There were several versions why the girls were in such a fix. Mrs. Christine Conway, housing supervisor for the dean's office, said the girls were notified several days ago to stay home until the case was settled and they received "more definite" word.

"Apparently they just decided to come anyway," she said. The girls replied that they received a letter from the university (Continued on Page Two)

BYRNES, BEVIN MEET PRIVATELY AT CONFERENCE

Peace Conferees Weighing Significance Of Premier Stalin's Statement

PARIS, Sept. 25—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin met privately today for the second time in five days as the peace conference weighed the significance of Premier Josef Stalin's statement.

The Bevin-Byrnes talk followed by a few hours the big four decision to finish the peace conference by Oct. 15 and move the big four foreign ministers meetings to New York. Bevin was instrumental in arranging yesterday's speed-up meeting.

Authoritative Anglo-American sources said Stalin's conciliatory statement was unlikely to have visible effect on the East-West diplomatic conflict unless subsequent Soviet actions fit his words.

There was no evidence that Byrnes was considering a change in tactics or in his firm policy toward Russia as result of Stalin's interview.

The Italian political commission rejected all attempts to revise the big four plan for Italy's colonies and without objection adopted a big four formula to postpone disposition of those areas for one year.

The colonial article as drafted by the big four was adopted without a vote and without objection, although Brazil and Australia asked to be recorded as abstaining.

Byrnes and Bevin met at noon in Byrnes' hotel, the Meurice. Since his return from London, Bevin has taken the initiative in these hotel room meetings. He saw Byrnes on Saturday, disclosed his hopes for a big four meeting, and then called on V. M. Molotov of Russia Monday. It was the first Bevin-Molotov meeting during the conference. Byrnes and Molotov have not yet had a private talk.

Byrnes scheduled an afternoon conference with W. Averell Harriman, new secretary of commerce, who was coming here from London to clean up his conference (Continued on Page Two)

UN DELEGATES NOT PLEASED WITH RESULTS

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 25—The United Nations security council wiped its docket clean of business today, but delegates were unable to erase fresh signs of concern over their failure to agree.

From as high a level as the office of United Nations secretary-general Trygve Lie down through lower strata of the world organization, officials appeared upset over the new evidence of disagreement piled up in the council's latest session—a string of 18 tense meetings.

The session was climaxed late yesterday by the overwhelming defeat of Russia's effort to require United Nations inventories of all troops and bases maintained in friendly foreign territories by the allies.

A bloc of western power votes kept the Russian proposal from even reaching the agenda, although Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko did manage to unload some extensive charges before the discussion was stopped. The action in effect cleared the United States and Britain of Soviet charges that their troops in such countries as China, Iceland, Brazil, Egypt, Iraq and others are possible threats to peace.

ANDERSON SAYS CEILINGS ARE HIGH ENOUGH

Administration Will Oppose Efforts To Decontrol Meat At Present

FARMERS GIVEN WARNING

Secretary Says High Prices On Food Resented; Surplus Due In Future

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—The livestock industry was confronted today with signs the administration will strongly oppose its drive for immediate decontrol of meat as a cure for the current meat famine.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson dropped a broad hint of the administration's intentions with a statement that present ceiling prices on agricultural products are adequate to promote needed food production.

The meat industry, which believes price controls are largely responsible for the meat shortage, is preparing a petition asking Anderson to wipe out controls on live cattle and beef. If Anderson turns them down, they can appeal to the independent decontrol board.

Anderson discussed the agricultural price situation last night in a radio speech from Albuquerque, N. M.

"The agriculture department feels that price adjustments are now behind us," Anderson said. There may be a "few" additional increases, he added, but "they will be held to the minimum required by law."

OPA Pleased

Top OPA officials, reporting that overall food prices have risen some 14 to 15 per cent since last June 30, said they were "favorably impressed" by Anderson's declaration.

Anderson defended his recent recommendations for food price increases as necessary production incentives. This he said, explained his action in ordering higher livestock ceilings than favored by OPA.

"The problem," he said, "was to arrive at a price for livestock good enough to be an incentive to farmers to expand production and yet far below the runaway prices consumers paid during July and August."

Shortage Expected

He said the current meat shortage was expected because, "after price ceilings were restored, the previous heavy market runs of lightweight livestock dropped sharply as we knew they must if we were to avoid a prolonged meat famine later on."

Anderson contended the conversion of record feed crops into meat will, "in months to come," provide more meat than otherwise would have been available.

He warned the nation's farmers that the public resents high food prices and advises them to cultivate domestic markets by keeping farm prices "reasonable."

PACKERS CLAIM THEY HAVE NO MEAT FOR ARMY

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 25—Meat packers here today said they could not meet the War Department's demand for 25 per cent of Cincinnati's meat supply except at a cost plus basis.

A notice from the War Department yesterday demanded that the city's 17 federally inspected packers turn over 25 per cent of the city's meat supply to the government at OPA levels within the next week or face criminal prosecution.

In a letter to Gus Jungling, president of the Wholesale Meat Dealers Association, the Quartermaster General indicated that stern measures were being taken "following your refusal to accept a voluntary contract for such food offered you by the War department at applicable maximum prices."

Jungling and four other packers who received mandatory federal orders to deliver 340,000 pounds of meat said it would be impossible for them to supply even a pound of meat except at a cost plus basis. "We haven't been selling any meat to the government lately because we have had no meat to sell," Jungling said.

STRIKERS DEFY COURT ORDERS AT PITTSBURGH

Power Dwindles To 35 Per Cent Of Normal; Mills, Factories Close

(Continued from Page One) yesterday after a court had granted the city a preliminary injunction ordering the union leaders to "rescind and recall any order declaring a strike."

Mueller said the injunction was "just a scrap of paper."

"When he was brought to court he was given a chance to purge himself by apologizing and calling off the strike. Mueller claimed he was powerless to halt the walk-out and refused to withdraw his 'scrap of paper' statement. Judge Rowland sent him to jail for a year and ordered him to begin serving the sentence immediately. A request for bail pending an appeal was denied.

The judge declared angrily that Mueller would stay in jail at least until the end of the strike. The court might be inclined to go easy on him if the strike should end quickly, Judge Rowland said. Mueller's attitude toward the court was "very serious," the judge added.

Both the AFL and CIO unions in the city protested strongly against the injunction.

"The judges have established a very vicious precedent which destroys free labor and endangers democracy," said Anthony J. Federoff, president of the Steel City Industrial Union Council (CIO). "In the place of the city seeking to take over this independent union, it should study its charters and find a way to take over the public utilities and give the employees the square deal they are entitled to."

The court order specifically instructed the union to:

1. Rescind and recall any order declaring a strike.
 2. Refrain from interfering with power operations of the company or city.
 3. Stop the use of funds for strike purposes.
 4. Refrain from engaging in or participating in or conspiring to promote any action in concert or individually which will imperil the lives, property, health or well-being of the citizens of Pittsburgh or Allegheny county or any other affected areas.
 5. Refrain from picketing.
- The company was enjoined from violating its franchise obligation to provide adequate and continuous power and electric current, or from doing anything to aggravate the strike or increase the danger to residents of the area.
- The court order was a continuation of a temporary injunction granted the city last Sept. 9. That order headed off a walkout scheduled at that time.

THREE ARRESTS IN 24 HOURS WILSON RECORD

Arrested three times in less than 24 hours for intoxication, Ono Wilson, 48, West Franklin street, was fined $100 and costs, Wednesday, by Mayor Ben H. work before going to Washington. Harriman, former ambassador to Russia and Great Britain, has been assisting Byrnes on the Romanian treaty commission.

Before the votes were taken in the Italian political commission, British delegate Gladwyn Jebb said that the big four had agreed yesterday that members of the United Nations which had participated in the North African desert campaign would be consulted before the big four decide what to do with the colonies.

As the article now stands, Italy will surrender sovereignty to the colonies immediately. The British will continue military occupation and administration until they are disposed of.

The big four then will try to decide what to do with Libya, Eritrea and Italian Somaliland. The only certain indication is that Ethiopia will get Eritrea.

The United States and the Soviet bloc introduced extreme opposite views on the question of Fascism in Italy during the day's debate.

Poland and the Ukraine introduced an amendment similar to those in the Balkan treaties obliging Italy not to permit the existence of Fascism in any form.

U. S. delegate James Dunn opposed the Polish-Ukrainian move contending the "new democratic Italy" already has adopted laws sufficient to stamp out Fascism.

"There is no need for an article of this kind," Dunn said. He said a similar clause in the Balkan treaties had been put there at the insistence of the Soviet delegates.

The commission rejected the anti-Fascist amendment by a vote of 9 to 8, with three abstentions, despite a Russian plea for its adoption on the grounds that Fascism still exists in Italy and that Italy was the fatherland and cradle of Fascism.

ROBBINS MAKES GUILTY PLEA

Case Of Ashville Barber Is Taken Under Advisement By Judge Crist

James Robbins, 49, Ashville barber indicted on a charge of abortion, Wednesday changed his plea to guilty in Pickaway county common pleas court, and a powerful plea that Robbins be released on probation was made to Judge Emmitt L. Crist by Attorney Joseph W. Adkins, counsel for the admitted abortionist.

That action was opposed by County Prosecutor Kenneth Robbins who declared that abortion is an "enormous crime" and should be punished.

Judge Crist took the case under advisement and Robbins was remanded to the county jail to await the court's decision.

Arrested several weeks ago by Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Robbins confessed 15 minutes after entering the jail that he had performed illegal operations on three Circleville young housewives. He has since been held in jail in default of bond. Robbins was indicted Sept. 6 and on Sept. 10 he entered a plea of not guilty.

Following the guilty plea, Wednesday, Attorney Adkins placed in the witness chair several prominent Ashville and Circleville men, all of whom testified that in their opinion Robbins should be freed on probation and that this was the prevailing sentiment in the Ashville community.

Among these witnesses were Dr. George W. Heffner, Circleville, jail physician, Dr. George Gardner, William Fisher, Sr., Thomas Acord, Charles O'Day, all of Ashville, and County Commissioner John Keller, residing west of Ashville.

Dr. Heffner and Dr. Gardner testified that Robbins suffers from heart disease, Bright's disease, and other ailments resulting from lead poisoning several years ago while he was employed by the Ault company at Columbus, and Dr. Heffner said that Robbins' life expectancy is "short" and that it would be "shortened" by confinement in the penitentiary.

Testimony brought out that Robbins is the father of five children including two sons now serving in the Army.

Some of the witnesses testified that most Ashville residents believe "the women involved should be punished." However, Prosecutor Robbins declared that the three Circleville women testified before the grand jury and that under Ohio law they are therefore immune from prosecution. Judge Crist made a similar pronouncement from the bench.

At the conclusion of the hearing and before announcing he would take the case under advisement Judge Crist expressed the court's opinion that Robbins had committed abortions other than the three he had admitted.

Ideas in the shaping of future platforms.

President Truman gave the Democrats a "peace and production" campaign slogan yesterday at a White House meeting with a group of Democratic congressional candidates who were presented by Hannegan. The emergency will continue, the President added, until we get peace and production.

"That's all we want," he told the visiting candidates. "That's the program of the Democratic party—peace in the world, and a production program that will rehabilitate the world."

term of 10 years but escaped from the road gang before they were to leave for Siberia. He traveled through forests, over mountains and plains for eight months from Budapest to Palestine and there joined the Polish Army. All of his escape was by foot with hardly any food, clothing or cigarettes.

When he joined the Polish army in Palestine he was trained with the new weapons of war and later fought Germans and Italians under the command of General Rommel in Africa. He was wounded several times.

Mr. Furman was discharged in 1945 and through his uncle in Chillicothe he obtained papers to come to the United States. He hopes to become an American citizen and at present is making his home in Chillicothe.

From Mr. Furman's experiences he really knows why we "Should Love America." Here in the U. S. we have freedom, something, they do not have in European countries, Mr. Furman emphasized.

Robert John, secretary of the state Junior Chamber of Commerce, was a guest.

M. L. McIntire was chairman of the committee in charge of the meeting.

An American embassy spokesman said the unidentified American was a friend of Pridonoff's.

Yugoslav officials said they did not object to American publications carrying anti-Yugoslav articles, but that publications circulated in bulk must first be approved by Tanjug, the official government news agency. They said the Pridonoff articles "falsely picture the situation in Yugoslavia, contain slanders and grave insults to the Yugoslav people, and had the intention of worsening Yugoslav-American relations."

MAN INDUCTED IN ARMY TUESDAY LANDS IN JAIL

Herbert E. Terry, 19, Matook, W. Va., inducted into the Army, Tuesday, at Fort Hayes, Columbus, was in the Circleville city jail, Wednesday, and Police Chief William F. McCrady said the prisoner would be held pending the filing of charges by officials of the Norfolk and Western Railway.

Terry was taken into custody and was removed from a south-bound N. and W. passenger train in Circleville by police at 11:30 p. m. Tuesday on complaint of Conductor Lewis L. Evans, 174 Thirteenth avenue, Columbus, who told police Terry tampered with the conductor's cash box and destroyed records and receipts. Police quoted Terry as stating he was enroute to his home on an induction furlough.

unemployment during readjustment for a maximum of 52 weeks. Currently on the rolls are 1,655,000.

VA reported proudly once that recipients drew less than six checks each. Now more than a fourth of the claimants have been on the rolls for 20 weeks or more. More than 1,500,000 have left the "club" on finding work, then returned later for more help.

Only 51,000 ex-servicemen have entirely exhausted their benefits under this and a parallel income guarantee for self-employed veterans.

But VA said the only reason the number was not higher was that most men have been out of service less than the 52-week maximum period.

A study by the agency's research service showed that of all GI's who made claims in the past year and who could conceivably have exhausted their entitlement, between 11 and 16 per cent had done so. "The persistence of such rates in future months could result in 500,000 to 600,000 exhaustions by January, 1947, and between 600,000 and 800,000 by June, 1947," the service concluded.

PICKAWAY ALSO HAS MYSTERIOUS 'WILD ANIMAL'

Wolf-Like Creature Escapes Pursuers In Vicinity Of County Home

A mysterious wolf-like animal has for several weeks roved the area in the vicinity of the Pickaway county home, it was learned Wednesday, and the strange animal has fled all attempts to kill or capture it.

The queer beast, somewhat larger than a medium-sized dog, has been sighted by several residents of the institution and by others, and Supt. James H. Mowery and other men have shot at it but each time the shots missed.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff and deputies have searched the area but failed to find the animal which reportedly has several times attacked pigs and also dogs. It is believed to hide in a nearby woods.

Most of the appearances of the unusual animal have been in daylight hours.

Thus Pickaway county has added one more to the ever-increasing crop of mysterious animals reported in various sections of Ohio in recent weeks. A mysterious wild "thing", blackish in color, grunting like a hog and speedier than a dog, was reported seen Monday a few miles from Columbus.

DODGERS MUST WIN THEM ALL TO HAVE CHANCE

Cardinal Victory While Bums Rest Puts Brooklyn On The Spot

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Today was D-day for the Dodgers and might well stand for doomsday. The pressure went on Brooklyn's comeback kids as never before last night when the Cardinals topped the Reds at St. Louis, 2 to 1, to go a full game ahead.

Each team now has four games to play. The Dodgers have to win all of theirs and St. Louis must drop two to clinch a Dodger pennant without a playoff.

Never before has Brooklyn's position been so precarious, although to a man the team is convinced they'll "win 'em all" as they square away for two more games with the Phillies and two with the Braves.

They figured that the Cardinals will drop at least one of their tilts, which would give the Dodgers a chance to tie and necessitate a playoff.

"Sure they'll drop one," said outfielder Dixie Walker. "They're all tight and jittery and they're not hitting."

All that interested Leo Durocher was the fact that Brooklyn has to keep winning regardless of what the Cardinals do.

"One more defeat and we're sunk," he said. "We have to win 'em all and hope for the best out west."

Durocher figured that the Dodgers got a lucky break yesterday when rain caused postponement of their game with the Phillies. It gave them their first rest in 14 days of play in which they played 17 games, including the epochal 19-inning runless tie with the Reds. The postponement also gave Pete Reiser, outfield star, another day in which to recover from a leg injury. He planned to start today, and thus will be able to play an extra game against the Phils.

The postponed game was set back to Thursday, an open date for both teams. If today's game is rained out, it will be played as part of a double header Thursday.

"And we'll play Thursday come hell or high water," Durocher said. "That would be our only chance to get the games in."

Nevertheless, the possibility arose that a two or three day siege of rain might wash out one or more of the remaining Dodger games. And there is no provision in the National League rules for replaying them. In such a case the Cards might win or lose the flag while the Dodgers listened to them do it on the radio.

Durocher said he would use Ralph Branca, who has a string of 20 scoreless innings and two straight shutouts, against the Phils today. Branca blanked the Cardinals with three hits and the Pirates with five in his most recent outings.

Manager Ben Chapman, going "all out" to retard the team that has beaten his Phils 16 out of 20 times, planned to use his ace lefty, "Scar" Judd, today and Charley Stanceau, his Hungarian right hander, tomorrow. However, Judd, winner in his last two starts against Brooklyn, is troubled with a side injury and may not go. Outfielder Johnny Wyrostek, a dependable hitter, also was laid up, Chapman said.

Durocher refused to speculate beyond today's game on his pitching assignments. When reminded that Cardinal manager Eddie Dyer was planning to use his ace left-hander, Howie Pollet at least twice more and in relief if necessary, Durocher replied:

"I'm not as smart as all that. We gotta play these games one day at a time."

More decisive were the results

BILL DECHERT ENLISTS IN U. S. ARMY AIR CORPS

William Dechert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Dechert, Orient route 1, has enlisted for three years in the Army Air Corps.

"Bill" is widely known for his participating in basketball while attending Scioto township high school, where he was graduated in the class of 1946. He was president of his class four years. He was also a member of the Scioto high school band.

He plans to enter college under the G. I. Bill of Rights following completion of his army service.

In other major league games yesterday, the Detroit Tigers clinched second place in the American League by beating St. Louis twice, 4 to 3 and 10 to 1, while the champion Red Sox nipped the Yankees, 5 to 4. Hank Greenberg hit three homers for the Tigers to take the major league lead at 41 to 38 for Ted Williams. Greenberg's first homer came in the ninth inning of the opener and won the game. Mickey Harris pitched and batted the Sox to victory. His third single enabled him to get on base and then score the winning run.

In the National League, Chicago and Pittsburgh divided lopsided games. The Cubs won the opener, 13 to 3, and the Pirates regained their honor with a 13 to 0 triumph in the second game behind Rip Sewell.

Erv Dusak's home run in the 10th inning broke a 1-1 tie at St. Louis and gave the Cards their wanted victory. Johnny Vander Meer blanked the Cards until the last of the ninth, then saw his game lost in the 10th despite the fact he gave up only four hits. The Reds took the lead in the fourth and held it until the ninth.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way: Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

FANS TO WATCH HIGH SCHOOLERS

All-Time Record Crowds See Grid Teams As Early Games Are Played

BY JOHN G. DIETRICH
 United Press Sports Writer

One thing alone was certain today after two weeks of play in the 1946 Ohio high school football season—fans will pay to see the scholastic games this year in unprecedented numbers.

From every section of the state, all-time record crowds were reported for week-end battles, topped by the more than 22,000 who saw Cleveland Cathedral win a 14-7 battle at Massillon.

That victory gave the Latin Lions their 27th game without a defeat and temporarily at least nailed down their claims as the state's top scholastic eleven. Bill Peterson's passing was a large factor in the Latin triumph.

East Liverpool's long victory string was snapped when Steubenville Wells came through with a 19-0 upset on the Stubbers' field. It was the first Big Red win since 1944, and the first Potter defeat in a similar period. Bob Stratton scored twice, once on a 66-yard dash with an intercepted Potter aerial.

Steubenville Central Catholic, another toughie, came up with a 39-7 romp over Pittsburgh Allegheny.

A duel between two teams unbeaten since 1944 ended in a 19-13 victory for Campbell Memorial over Youngstown Ursuline, while Portsmouth furthered southern Ohio's state title hopes with a 41-

13 inter-state triumph over Charleston, W. Va.

The score was a 13-13 deadlock at the half, but Portsmouth intercepted three Charleston passes in the second half and converted them into TD's.

Lorain county came up with two powerhouse teams as Lorain overran Cleveland West, 26-0, and Elyria scuttled Sandusky, 39-0.

Marietta and Newark took favored spots in the Central Ohio League. Marietta won its second game, a 35-7 waltz past St. Mary's, W. Va., while Newark turned back a Columbus team for the second week with a final period, 19-14 edge over Columbus North.

Chaminade continued to dominate the Dayton picture with an easy 34-0 win over Dayton Roosevelt. Chaminade has run up a total of 61 points to none for two capable foes.

Two other touchdown-minded teams added to their high totals as Barborton walloped Akron South, 35-6, and Alliance zoomed past Cleveland John Adams, 32-0.

Toledo Waite kept in the running for the ephemeral state title with a 35-7 victory over Toledo Central Catholic.

On the basis of two weeks' play, the top teams in the state looked something like this, with no effort to rank them in order:

Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Toledo Waite, Campbell Memorial, Portsmouth, Dayton Chaminade, Steubenville Central, Mansfield, Barborton, Alliance, Lima Central, and Akron Garfield.

Behind that group was another, possibly of equal ability, that included Lorain, Canton McKinley, Cleveland Rhodes, Canton Lincoln,

JUNIOR TIGERS PLAY M'CLAIN TEAM THURSDAY

Reserves Of Greenfield, CHS Clash On Greenfield Grid Under Lights

Circleville high school varsity moves into the background Thursday night while the reserves have their day (or rather night).

At 8 p. m. on the Greenfield gridiron the little Tigers will meet McClain reserves in a preview of what a varsity game between the two schools in a couple of years will be like.

The reserve game is the first of a series of four lined up to date for the freshmen and sophomores by Coaches Steve Brudzinski and Tommy Bennett. They are designed to give the younger boys a chance to get actual game experience. The play against opposition

Cincinnati St. Xavier, Middletown, Steubenville Wells, Lima South and an improved Martins Ferry club. Youngstown Woodrow Wilson and Troy also should be mentioned.

Individual honors for the week would have to go to Canton McKinley's Ralph Pucci, who racked up four TD's and as many extra points in his team's 40-0 comeback against Canton Timken.

Games have also been scheduled with Clarksburg (varsity) here, October 3, Lancaster and Logan reserves.

Coach Brudzinski said Wednesday morning about 35 boys probably would make the trip.

Meanwhile, the varsity Tigers will be winding up drills in preparation for a game with Westerville here Friday night. Little is known about the visitors except they can score. Their opposition to date has not been strong. The Tigers are prepping for this contest with the idea of gaining their third victory and getting set for the stern opposition that lies ahead.

Coaches Wednesday were worried about Bob Steele who sprained his ankle in Tuesday evening's practice. Whether he will be able to play Friday is undetermined. This will depend on how fast the injury heals.

UNITY FOR GERMANY

OF far-reaching consequence is the current issue as to whether Germany will remain divided between eastern and western control, or emerge a unified nation. The Anglo-American policy, with Secretary Byrnes as the spokesman, is for administering Germany as an economic unit. This is opposed by Russia and France.

A united Germany, according to its proponents, will make for self-support of that nation and reduction of allied subsidy. By supplying legitimate outlets to re-educated Germans, particularly youth, it would help democratize the country and lead it toward a peaceful role in Europe.

Zoning, according to Byrnes, encourages poverty and stagnation. It penalizes neighbor countries by depriving them of trade that would ensue from a Germany able to develop exports. A divided Germany, breeding economic and political confusions, would bring out the worst national elements. The nation might again menace the peace of Europe.

The Anglo-American thought, in brief, is that it is possible to deprive Germany forever of the industrial means of making war and at the same time allow her to become a self-sustaining, self-respecting and peace-abiding member of the world family of nations.

NEW FUEL

EXPERIMENTS are being made in distilling alcohol by a new short, continuous process, from decayed fruit and vegetables and from corn. Losses from spoilage are large in the fruit industry, and a profitable use of culls would be welcomed by the farmers.

At the National Chemical Exposition held recently in Chicago, a distillery the size of a kitchen stove turned out daily seven and one-half gallons of 190 proof alcohol from three bushels of corn. The process used is known as "acid hydrolysis". This alcohol is suitable for use in tractors.

Many obstacles need to be overcome before this project can be put to practical use, one of which is the lack of an internal combustion engine which will use alcohol to good advantage. With the world-wide need for oil so great, the development of new fuels for engines should solve part of the problem.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By JACK GAVES

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—The New York drama critics circle apparently has grown weary of becoming an object of public scorn every time it fails to name a best play for a season. Under new rules a choice has to be made "without regard to any absolute critical standard."

The circle failed to choose a winner for the 1945-46 season because a handful of members felt there was nothing worthy of members designated. Now the play that receives a simple majority of votes will get the nod.

The procedure will be for each member to submit anonymously his choice. Then the plays so named will be discussed. After that there will be a signed vote, with the play receiving the majority the winner. Should none receive a simple majority, the members must list the plays under discussion in the order of their merit—one, two, three, etc. The play with the lowest total of points will be the winner.

A new Hollywood producing combine has been announced by Mary Pickford and Lester Cowan, who are pooling the properties of their independent organizations to form a company with a capitalization of more than $2,500,000. No name has been selected for the new company, but Miss Pickford will be its president. Cowan is the fellow who made the Ernie Pyle picture, "The Story of G. I. Joe."

Performances of the hit play "Dream Girl" for this week have been cancelled through Friday night because of the illness of its star, Betty Field. The play will be resumed Saturday matinee when June Havoc will be ready to take over. She was to have replaced Miss Field on Oct. 7.

Richard Tauber has missed four performances of "Yours Is My Heart" due to laryngitis, but is to return tonight.

Broadway won't get a glimpse this season of England's musical comedy star Pat Kirkwood. After starting rehearsals in "Sweet Bye and Bye" she has been forced to drop out because of her health. Seems they've been working her too hard out in Hollywood.

The Jack Benny slogan this year is "15 and 35." That means it's his 15th year in radio and his 35th year in show business. They could have added a third figure to the other—52. That's how old he is. Benny's first program of the season will be next Sunday, Sept. 29 at 7 p. m. (EST) over NBC.

HAPPY DAYS

ATTEMPTING retaliation against an inveterate psychic bidder, by using his own tactics against him, is a highly dangerous procedure. It is like fondling a buzz saw when you don't understand the consarn thing. The spade 8 was led and the Q played. Expecting another spade, South played low. The defense then switched and ran all the rest of the tricks, for a score of 2,500 points.

South's venturesome 2-No Trumps was based on doubt about the two-bid by East, who had been preventing a lot of good scores for his opponents by fooling them with psychic bids. But this one time East really had "the goods."

West was doubtful about his partner's call at first, so passed the 2-No Trumps to see what East would do next. After the double he got confidence, so passed in order to punish South. Maybe the latter would have had a better chance to get out of his trouble if he had now bid 3-Clubs, but he felt that his partner would read the situation and rescue him. North could have saved a lot of points by bidding 3-Diamonds. His pass, he explained, was because he was befuddled and had no idea who was psyching.

Contrary Behavior Of Stomach Ulcer

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A STEADY, dull, burning pain in the upper part of the abdomen; this is one of the surest signs of ulcer of the stomach or first part of the bowel. Attacks ordinarily come on in the early morning or at mid-afternoon. Less frequently, they begin at bedtime or between one and three o'clock in the morning.

In the great majority of cases that's the way an ulcer which is eating its way through the stomach wall behaves. And yet, on occasion, it can do just as much damage in a secret and silent way without causing any pain at all. Or, it may cause pain but in an unexpected location, the back, for instance, instead of the abdomen.

Whimsical Fashion
Because ulcers so often behave in this freakish and whimsical fashion, Dr. James W. Hall, Jr., of the Medical Corps of the Army of the United States, believes they frequently lead to mistakes in diagnosis.

In most cases, where an ulcer is present, the taking of food will give some relief from the pain. In other cases it may give only partial relief, or may even make the pain worse. In some instances, instead of attacks of pain the patient may only have vomiting attacks, due to the fact that there is some obstruction or blocking of the passage of food from the stomach to the small intestine.

Type of Physique
It is believed that ulcer occurs only in persons with a certain type of physique, that is, persons who are thin, anxious and tense. Dr. Hall thinks that muscular, overweight, and placid persons may also have ulcer.

There are a number of conditions which may produce symptoms like those of ulcer, such as gastritis, disorders of the esophagus which leads from the mouth to the stomach, heart and blood vessel diseases, or even spasms of the muscle between the stomach and bowel or large intestine.

In some instances there may be evidence in the X-ray plate that an ulcer is present, but this may be a healed ulcer and such symptoms as the patient is having may be due to improper functioning or action of the stomach and intestine.

Thus, in order to make a definite diagnosis of ulcer, it is suggested that an hour to hour analysis of the patient's symptoms be made over a 24-hour period. The stools should be examined for the presence of blood.

One test that can be made is to give a weak solution of hydrochloric acid, and if an ulcer is present the pain will become worse. On the other hand, the giving of alkalis will relieve the symptoms.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

SO THEY went to the cocktail party. The Winslows were amusing. Barry had a wonderful time, and Abby looked fabulous, and Winslow smote Barry on the back and said, "Oh, boy, are you lucky!"

He thought he was; he thought himself the most fortunate of men . . . yet he was by no means insensible. Before they left for New York he was beginning to be aware of a quality in Abby's love for him that was faintly disturbing. He could not name it. If he had, he might have called it devouring, only that would seem an incongruous term to use of her. But there it was, and it had nothing to do with the give-and-take of passion . . . it was not so easily dismissed.

He had believed that, if there was a flaw in her, she lacked humor. As indeed she might, considering the life she had led. But he found, to his delight, that he was mistaken. She had humor, very much her own. It was no ribald, nor earthy, nor of the sort that finds amusement in the discomfort of others. There was nothing sardonic about Abby, nor unkind; and she was blind to satire. But humor was there, subtle, mischievous, and very unexpected. She had, perhaps, had little occasion to exercise it before. But now, as she was happy, she could laugh.

He thought, a hundred times a day, and his mind rapped wood, Lord, I'm lucky.

So when the faint disturbance troubled him . . . he brushed it aside. The honeymoon scales of emotion maintain a very delicate balance. Abby was younger in many ways than her years. She had been unhappy for a long time. All this he knew, as he rationalized the things that made him uneasy. There was little he did not know about Abby, now. She gave him her past life as though it were a trivial gift, which he could regard and then throw away. In return, she wanted him. It made him uncomfortable, the questioning, the gentle probing. Not that there was anything to hide, but he felt like a fool, talking about things that had happened so long ago they might as well have happened to someone else.

For the most part he was patient with her, more patient than anyone who had known him would suspect he could be. But he was puzzled. And once, when she asked him about Val—"How did you feel about her, were you attracted by her?"—he was amused but irritated.

"Look, brat," he said, "you told me once you didn't want to know about my girls."

"She was your girl?"

"Don't be so quick on the uptake. Good Lord, no. But when we were driving back after our marriage . . ."

She said, "I didn't want to know then." She colored, and turned her face away. And looking at her, he laughed. He said, "I see . . ."

"Perhaps," she said. "But Val . . . after all, I know Val. I knew her long before you did."

He said carelessly, "She's darned attractive . . . I was curious about her. Perhaps, if you hadn't come along . . ."

She said, shuddering, "You—one day you'll die, Barry, or I—one of us . . ."

"Well, sure," he said, "in 40 or 50 years."

"It's too short," she said, "how-ever long it may be."

He cradled her in his arms, pulling her across his knees, her head on his shoulder. The quiet night pressed against the windows and the stars looked down.

After a while she stirred, smiled, and reached up to touch his cheek with her hand. She said again, "I'm sorry."

"Should be," he told her, "waking me up. I was having a wonderful dream."

"Was I in it?"

"As a matter of fact, you weren't. I was battling around in a plane, Midge at the controls. I had six bottles of beer and a hamburger and I was singing 'Old Pilots Never Die!'"

"Were you really?"

"No," he admitted, "if you must know, I wasn't dreaming anything. I was out cold."

She asked, breathless, "You would have married Val?"

"Who said anything about marriage?" he demanded.

"Oh," said Abby, in a small voice, and he added, wickedly, not because he had any wish to hurt her, but because it seemed funny to him, "And now I'll never know."

"What?"

"What? I was curious about. Come on, it's lunch time and I'm starved."

They were riding, the rest of the party far ahead. It was a crazy conversation to conduct on horseback, anyway. Barry's horse brushed past Abby's and they were ahead. Barry shouted, "Beat you in . . ." and the conversation ended.

But she did not forget it. That night, lying awake, beside him, she thought of Val. He'd been attracted by Val, but he hadn't wanted to marry her. What had he wanted of her, what about her had made him—curious? In itself, an odd word, she thought. She was suddenly savagely angry with Val, for existing, and with Barry, who had, after a fashion, called her into existence.

Yes, with Barry most of all. Because she couldn't know what he thought; she couldn't know what his mind; she couldn't know what he felt; she couldn't get inside his blood and flesh and bones. She could not see Val through Barry's eyes because she, Abby, was not Barry. She was another person. She was herself, and did not wish to be.

He woke and felt her hands on him, the long fingers tracing the scar along his ribs; he heard her shaken breath.

He sat straight up in bed, and shook the good, heavy sleep from his red head. He said, "Hey, what's all this about?"

"I'm sorry," she said stifled.

Barry reached out his hand and switched on the bedside light. He saw her face, he saw the heavy braids of hair, the flawless line of throat and cheek. He saw her tears, which did not disfigure her.

He said, holding her, "What is it, Abby . . . a nightmare?"

A nightmare . . . a dreadful nightmare.

She said, shuddering, "You—one day you'll die, Barry, or I—one of us . . ."

"Well, sure," he said, "in 40 or 50 years."

"It's too short," she said, "how-ever long it may be."

He cradled her in his arms, pulling her across his knees, her head on his shoulder. The quiet night pressed against the windows and the stars looked down.

After a while she stirred, smiled, and reached up to touch his cheek with her hand. She said again, "I'm sorry."

"Should be," he told her, "waking me up. I was having a wonderful dream."

"Was I in it?"

"As a matter of fact, you weren't. I was battling around in a plane, Midge at the controls. I had six bottles of beer and a hamburger and I was singing 'Old Pilots Never Die!'"

"Were you really?"

"No," he admitted, "if you must know, I wasn't dreaming anything. I was out cold."

She put her hand on him lightly, so that he would not wake. His flesh was as familiar to her as her own. Yet he lay sleeping, his integrated self shut away from her. She had no real knowledge of him beyond the flesh. She was wise to a stranger.

... when You Cook with Gas

Cooking with gas is a familiar habit with you, and if you have a new modern gas range, you'll enjoy all of those welcome benefits plus many added features. You'll be able to take full advantages of low-temperature baking and roasting. It's carefree cooking — because you can leave your kitchen for hours with no thought of your meal. You'll use a "Simmer burner" on the range top that will give you slow, thorough cooking. And then there will be that extra fast heat for the last minute dishes.

Gas lets you cook as you please in your usual way. And a modern gas range helps you cook better and more easily.

At present, clocks are not available, but it will not be much longer before you can have "clock-cooking" if you should prefer it.

Ask Betty Newton for your copy of The Canning Guide. Ask her any question about cooking and kitchen plans.

40-VOICE BOYS TOWN CHOIR TO GIVE CONCERT

Music enthusiasts are in for a new experience on Monday evening, October 14 at 8:30 Memorial Hall, when the forty-voice choir of Boys Town comes to Columbus, on its national concert tour.

This unique artistic group is composed of formerly homeless boys who were "adopted" by Monsignor Edward J. Flanagan into his Boys Town near Omaha, Neb. They are boys who thoroughly enjoy singing, have special musical talents, and are trained by the choir's musical director, Father Francis Schmitt.

Ranging in age from 12 to 15 the choir's artistry is projected in programs which range from liturgical chants through hymns, to infectious folk tunes like "The Arkansas Traveler". The beautiful voices of the sopranos and the vibrant bass sound together in perfect harmonies to delight all who hear them.

Aside from affording a much larger public the opportunity to hear this interesting musical organization, the main purpose of the current tour, according to Father Flanagan, is to give the boys the broadening effects of travel and a first hand knowledge of the beauty and breadth of their native land. Father Flanagan founded Boys Town on two ideals, the desire to devote his life to training good citizens and the faith that people would help in a worthy cause.

Father Flanagan has recently returned from a visit to his native Ireland where it is hoped the choir will also tour.
